

Developing Applications That Use AtScale

You can use the AtScale Design Center REST APIs to develop applications that perform many of the functions of the Design Center. You can also configure webhooks to send callbacks to your applications when different types of events occur, such as the creation of projects or the starting of aggregate builds. Finally, you can monitor the AtScale service endpoints for service health checks.

- ▲ AtScale Webhooks
- ▲ Service Endpoints for Monitoring

See Also

- ▲ API Reference