Rename An Organization

You can change the name of an organization, but not its ID. The organization name is what is shown in the AtScale Design Center application.

About This Task

You can change the name of an organization at any time. However, keep in mind that client connections use the organization ID (not the name) when connecting. For example, the default organization's ID and name are both default. Changing the organization name will update the name shown in AtScale Design Center, but the organization ID will remain default for client connections.

Procedure

1. Choose Settings, select Organizations under the Global Settings section.
2. If the current organization is not the right one, click on your name next to the profile icon and select the correct organization.
3. Enter a new Name for the organization in the General section.
4. Click Apply New Name.
